Headline:
Sunnier and colder today, with showers near western coasts.

Today:
Largely dry with sunny periods today, especially during the morning, but occasional showers will affect Anglesey, Gwynedd, Pembrokeshire and Cardigan Bay coastal regions. Feeling much colder, especially on coasts exposed to the brisk northerly wind. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers continuing in the west this evening. Elsewhere, staying largely dry and becoming frosty in places. Cloud increasing overnight with temperatures rising and showery rain spreading southwards later. Becoming windy. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Friday:
Cloudy with periods of rain at first. Becoming brighter with heavy blustery showers, and some hail mixed in at times, these turning wintry on hills later. Windy with coastal gales. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Very windy and cold on Saturday, with sunshine and showers, wintry over hills. Drier on Sunday with much lighter winds. Cloudy with rain at times on Monday and less cold.
